

DAY'S DOINGS IN NORTH SCRANTON

Peter Clifford Arrested for Discharging Firearms.

HE HAD A VERY UNIQUE DEFENSE

Alderman Fidler Refused to Take Any Stock in It—Breaking Down of a Pump at Leggett's Creek Caused Idleness at the Colliery—Crusade Against Spunkies Still Continues—K. M. Miller Causes Arrest of Father Because He Could Not Find the Son.

Feter Clifford was arrested Wednesday evening by Patrolman John Hawley who caught Clifford in the act of discharging fire arms. When placed under arrest he resisted desperately, but was eventually landed in the station house. Clifford has been discharging a revolver at intervals during the last four months, and the police have been on the lookout for him, but not until Wednesday evening were they successful in capturing him, red handed as it were.

Clifford was given a hearing yesterday by Alderman Fidler. He was given an opportunity to explain his reasons for carrying concealed weapons in defense. He stated that he was prompted to carry the dangerous weapon to defend himself against the Lime Kiln club and Sons of Columbia, the members of which organizations he says he is in dread of. The alderman did not consider this a defense and fined him $15 and confiscated the revolver.

PUMP BROKE DOWN.

The Leggett's Creek colliery was compelled to abandon work yesterday morning owing to an accident which befell the pump. The water which is pumped out had accumulated to such a volume as a result of the break down that the officials thought it judicious to suspend operations until the break was repaired. Work will be resumed this morning.

CRUSADE GOES ON.

The crusade against unlicensed saloons goes merrily on. Yesterday T. H. C. Maloney caused the arrest of Martin McAndrew, of 1022 Rock street, and John Rumbley, of West Market street. Alderman Roberts gave the parties a hearing and they were placed under $500 bail each for their appearance at court.

Amelia and John Wisnoski were arrested last evening by County Detective Leyshon and Constable Seth Smith for selling liquor without a license. Alderman Fidler gave them a hearing and held them in jail for their appearance at court.

A QUEER CASE THIS.

On Feb. 10, K. M. Miller, of Greenfield, while returning home was relieved of his team of horses here. They were afterwards found on the South Side. Miller came to town yesterday and furnished Alderman Roberts with information that led to the arrest of John P. Gibson, of the South Side, on the charge of receiving stolen goods. Miller alleges that Gibson's son deprived him of his horses and he afterwards found them in Gibson's possession.

Being unable to capture the son, Miller decided to have the father arrested. Bail was furnished by the defendant in the sum of $300.

TOLD IN A FEW LINES.

Joe Annapetrus was arrested by Constable Smith yesterday for committing an aggravated assault and battery upon James Beniski. Alderman Fidler heard the case and held the defendant under bail.

An agreeable surprise party was tendered Mrs. Samuel Nieson recently at her home on Crane avenue, by a number of her friends in honor of her thirty-second birthday. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stanton, Mrs. Alfred Constantine, Mrs. Shimer, Mrs. George Northup, Misses Hazel Young, Laura Nieson, Lizette Neeson, Lucretia Nieson, Messrs. Misses Annie and Katie Purcell, of Hawley, are visiting relatives in this end.

The rehearsal last evening of the Christian Endeavor choir in the North Main Avenue Baptist church, was exceptionally interesting. Never before was the attendance so encouraging and the difficult choruses in "Sail of Tarzan" were gone through without a hitch. The choir was assisted by an orchestra.
